

AT YOUR NEXT JOB INTERVIEW, DO THE FOLLOWING:

1. Ask your potential employer for rent free apartment/house with all utilities paid, free meals, frequent pay raises and quick promotions.
2. Insist on a minimum of 30 days paid vacation per year, plus weekends and all 11 federal holidays off.
3. Ask them to provide you with free working clothes with an additional allowance each year for upkeep and replacement..
4. Demand full medical and dental coverage at no cost to you with unlimited sick leave with pay.
5. Insist they hire you with with no prior experience and train you in your new job with full pay.
6. Tell them you will be going to college while you work for them, and you want them to pay for 100% of the tuition.
7. Insist on free membership to a state of the art fitness facility.
8. Demand free air travel to hundreds of worldwide locations.
9. Demand a low-cost life insurance package providing you with up to $400,000 of coverage.
10. Tell them you might be leaving in 4 or 5 years. When you do, you want an additional $288,241 from them for college, university or vocational training. While you're furthering your education, you also want them to pay for your bills, so you don't have to worry about getting a job and can concentrate on your school schoolwork.

If you can't get all of these benefits from your potential employer, then maybe you should consider looking at the U.S. Air Force. Take charge of your future and find out how you can become a UNITED STATES AIRMAN!
